Covers & Booklets

CD cases are very popular products. Everybody owns them. We all know CD's don't sell like they use to. Online downloading has caused sales to drop. However, this makes creating your own CD's far easier by burning tracks to discs. Printed materials such as covers and booklets for CD cases are still in high demand. CD packaging comes in many dierent forms. The most common are jewel cases, which are the majority of CD packaging found in music stores. The other common forms of CD cases are slimline cases. These are more commonly found in electronic stores that sell blank CD's. CD booklets can be either saddle-stitched (stapled) from 8-24 pages, or folded from 4-24 pages, both depending on your type of case.

Tray cards or inlay sheets are only found in jewel CD cases. This is the sheet inserted beneath the actual CD itself. It acts as the back cover of the CD case containing the track listing for an album. It is also the display of both side panels, and the visual seen from inside the case when the CD is removed.

CD/DVD CARTON SLEEVE

Disc carton sleeves are wonderful as little promotional tools. They are much thinner than jewel or slimline casing because they are made fully out of paper/cardboard and are as slim as a disc. This is one of the 100% recyclable.
